As per the bilateral cooperation agreement signed between The Slovenian Research Agency (ARRS) and the Croatian Science Foundation (HRZZ) on 18 March 2019, Croatian Science Foundation is launching a Call for co-funding of the Croatian part of the Slovenian-Croatian research projects.

The general aim of research projects is creating new and enhancing existing knowledge. They are the principal support instrument to international cooperation. The ultimate aim is creating a critical mass of research groups who will be competitive at international level. Research projects – Slovenian-Croatian bilateral projects (IPS-2020-01) finance fundamental research which creates new and enhances existing knowledge about a particular area and is aimed at better understanding of the research subject.

The proposed topic must be internationally recognisable and/or nationally relevant, and the Applicant must have an excellent track record.

The Call funds the Croatian part of the Slovenian- Croatian research projects which have received positive evaluation marks in the international peer review process conducted by the Slovenian Research Agency (ARRS) as the Lead agency and which have been accepted for funding under the condition that formal criteria from both partner organisations have been met.

Slovenian Principal Investigator, together with the Croatian partner, prepares a joint project proposal in line with the ARRS Call and submits it to the ARRS Call. Project proposals contain a joint scientific description of the project and indicate the scientific contribution of Slovenian and Croatian researchers. Slovenian and Croatian parts of the research project need to be closely connected and complementary and the scientific contribution from both sides needs to be clearly defined, visible and transparent.

The aims of the Call:
