Additional criteria (final evaluation)

For each project proposal, the evaluation panel should provide a final opinion (which shall be forwarded to the Applicant). The final opinion should include the following elements:

Provide a critical review of the strong and weak points of the project proposal, focusing in particular on the relevance and scientific quality of the project proposal, the Principal Investigator and the research group to be established by the Project.

Provide a short explanation.

Support of the scientific organization at which the Applicant is employed

Does the Institution provide an encouraging research environment, the necessary infrastructure and the conditions for successful implementation of the project proposal?

Provide a short explanation.

Financial Plan

Is the total amount of requested funds justifiable and realistic for the implementation of project activities? Does the financial plan of the project contain only the costs provided for in the Call?

Provide a short review of the financial plan and a detailed explanation of the items which you believe should be amended.

Work Plan

Is the work plan feasible regarding the planned objectives, activities, results and potential risks? Is the work plan realistic regarding the proposed resources and scientific potential of the Applicant and the anticipated research team members?

Provide a short review of the work plan and a detailed explanation of the parts which you believe should be amended.

Ethical issues

Does the project involve any ethical issues or uncertainties? Are there any other issues that should be resolved before the start of the project (for example: potential dangers, could the results be misused to harm people, animals or the environment)? If the answer to the previous questions is Yes, please comment whether the Applicant offers acceptable solutions/warranties?

Provide a short explanation.
